DATE: May 5, 2025
RE: LITIGATION HOLD - DUTY TO PRESERVE DOCUMENTS AND ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION

Vantek Dynamics, Inc. anticipates that it may become involved in litigation or a related legal proceeding. Under applicable law, once litigation is reasonably anticipated, the Company and its employees have a legal duty to preserve all documents and electronically stored information ("ESI") that may be relevant, regardless of the Company's ordinary document retention or deletion practices.

You are required to preserve, without alteration or deletion, all documents and ESI in your possession, custody, or control relating to:

- Project Kestrel, including all actuator control specifications, source code, and design documents;
- The torque-compensation algorithm and any related technical, patent, or engineering communications;
- Communications with Marcus Ostrow, in any format, including personal messaging where used for work purposes;
- Communications with, or regarding, Halcyon Robotics or any of its personnel;
- IT security logs, device usage logs, badge access records, and file transfer records for the period January 1, 2025 to present.

This hold applies to all forms of ESI, including email, instant messages, text messages, cloud storage, shared drives, and personal devices used for work purposes. Do not delete, modify, or dispose of any such materials until you receive written notice from Legal that this hold has been lifted. Questions regarding the scope of this notice should be directed to the Legal Department directly and not discussed with your manager or colleagues.

Failure to comply with this notice may result in disciplinary action and may expose the Company and individual employees to legal sanctions.
